Public Interest Disclosures

Purpose

This policy outlines Sydney Living Museums' (SLM) commitment to the objectives of the Public Interest Disclosures Act 1994 and to encouraging the disclosure of corrupt conduct, maladministration, serious and substantial waste of public money and breaches of the Government Information (Public Access) Act 2009 (GIPA Act). It also establishes the internal reporting system for receiving, assessing and dealing with public interest disclosures and informs SLM workers of their rights and responsibilities in connection with public interest disclosures.

Background

A public interest disclosure is an allegation of corruption, maladministration, serious and substantial waste or breach of the GIPA Act made by a public official and about a public official. The Public Interest Disclosures Act 1994 (the Act) provides legal protection against reprisals that may be taken against public officials who make public interest disclosures. Public authorities are required to have a policy concerning how it will receive, assess and deal with public interest disclosures. This policy is based on the model internal reporting policy and the guidelines that the NSW Ombudsman has issued in relation to the Act.

This policy is designed to complement normal SLM communication channels. Workers are encouraged to raise matters of concern at any time with their supervisors, but also have the option of making a report about a public interest issue in accordance with this policy and the Act.

Scope

This policy applies to public interest disclosures made by public officials employed or in the service of SLM. Public officials include: SLM workers (ongoing, temporary and casual employees, contractors, consultants and volunteers.), Trustees, members of Trust Committees, and Directors of the Foundation for the Historic Houses Trust of New South Wales.

This policy also applies to public interest disclosures about SLM or any SLM officers.

The internal reporting system set out in this policy is not intended to be used for grievances (see the Grievance Handling Procedure).

POLICY

1. SLM Commitment

SLM is committed to creating and sustaining a positive ethical climate with accountable behaviour and the Executive and Trustees encourage and strongly support the disclosure of unlawful, corrupt, negligent or improper conduct, maladministration or serious and substantial waste of public money.

Workers should be confident that by reporting suspected wrongdoing, their disclosure will be appropriately managed and they will be supported and protected in doing so.

The principle of natural justice (procedural fairness) will apply to all investigations of matters that are the subject of public interest disclosures (PIDs). SLM is committed to treating the disclosure appropriately and making the process fair for both the reporter and the person who is subject of the disclosure.

SLM commits to:

- encouraging the internal reporting of alleged wrongdoing
- providing the resources necessary for those responsible for managing public interest disclosures, including awareness and training

- responding to disclosures thoroughly and impartially
- ensuring that public interest disclosures, including those made anonymously, are properly assessed and appropriately dealt with
- acknowledging a report and providing the reporter a copy of the SLM's Public Interest Disclosures Policy within 45 days of making the report
- keeping the identity of the reporters of wrongdoing confidential, wherever possible and appropriate
- protecting the integrity, wellbeing and career interest of all persons involved
- protecting the reporter from any adverse action as a result of making a disclosure
- encourage workers to report wrongdoing within SLM, but respect any decision to disclose wrongdoing outside SLM in accordance with the Act
- where some form of wrongdoing has been found, taking appropriate action
- keeping the reporter informed of the progress and outcome of investigation of their disclosure
- appropriately dealing with anyone who takes reprisal action against a person who made a PID.
- reassessing / reviewing this policy periodically to ensure it is relevant and effective.

2. When is a report a public interest disclosure?

A disclosure made in accordance with this policy will be protected under the Act as a PID if it:

- is made by a public official;
- is made to either the Executive Director, the Disclosures Coordinator or Disclosures Officer (see 4. 'Who can receive a report in SLM?'), in accordance with the requirements of this policy;
- is a disclosure of information that the reporter honestly believes, on reasonable grounds, shows or tends to show corrupt conduct, maladministration, serious and substantial waste of public money or breach of the GIPA Act by SLM or any of its officers.

Protection is not available for disclosures which:

- mostly question the merits of government policy, or
- are made solely or substantially with the motive of avoiding dismissal or other disciplinary action.

Note: it is a criminal offence under the Act for a public official to wilfully make a false statement, mislead or attempt to mislead an investigating authority or public official when making a disclosure to them. See 14. 'Sanctions for making false or misleading statements.'

3. What should be reported?

You should report any suspected wrongdoing within SLM, or any activities or incidents you see within SLM that you believe are wrong. Reports that meet the criteria of a PID will be dealt with under the Act and according to this policy.

Details of the types of conduct that constitute wrongdoing for the purposes of the Act are set out below at 3.1 – 3.4.

All other wrongdoing or suspected wrongdoing should be reported to a supervisor, to be dealt with in line with the relevant SLM policy or procedure (for example the Code of Conduct: Staff and Volunteers (Code of Conduct), Code of Conduct: Trustees or the Grievance Handling Procedure).

Even if these reports are not dealt with as PIDs, SLM recognises such reports may raise important issues. We will respond to all reports and make every attempt to protect the worker making the report from reprisal.

3.1 Corrupt conduct

Corrupt conduct is the dishonest or partial exercise of official functions by a public official. For example, this could include:

- the improper use of knowledge, power or position for personal gain or the advantage of others – such as a Trustee voting in favour of awarding a contract to a company that he/she has an undisclosed financial interest in;
- acting dishonestly or unfairly, or breaching public trust – such as a SLM worker selling confidential information obtained in the service of SLM;
- being influenced by a member of public to use their position in a way that is dishonest, biased or breaches public trust – such as accepting a bribe from a company to influence a procurement process.

3.2 Maladministration

Maladministration is conduct that involves action or inaction of a serious nature that is contrary to law, unreasonable, unjust, oppressive or improperly discriminatory or based wholly or partly on improper motives.

For example, this could include:

- making a decision and/or taking action that is unlawful – such as disposing of HHT property in contravention with the Historic Houses Act 1980 or the directions of the Minister;
- exercising a power or duty without taking into account all relevant considerations, or taking into account irrelevant considerations – such as making alterations to HHT property without proper authorisation or having regard to an applicable conservation plan.

3.3 Serious and substantial waste of public money

Serious and substantial waste is the uneconomical, inefficient or ineffective use of resources that could result in losing or wasting public money.

For example, this could include:

- not following a competitive tendering process for a large scale contract;
- having bad or no governance processes for managing large amounts of public funds – for example funds allocated for specified capital improvement purposes.

3.4 Breach of the GIPA Act

A breach of the GIPA Act is a failure to comply with that Act. This could include:

- destroying, concealing or altering records to prevent them from being released;
- knowingly making decisions that are contrary to the legislation – such as refusing to process an application to access government information without valid reason;
- directing another person to make a decision that is contrary to the legislation – such as a senior manager directing the decision maker not to release a document when the public interest considerations in favour of disclosure outweigh those against.

More information about what can be reported under the Act can be found in the NSW Ombudsman's Guideline B2: What should be reported?

4. Who can receive a report within SLM?

You are encouraged to report general wrongdoing to your supervisor. However the Act requires that, for a report to be a PID, it must be made to certain public officials identified in this policy. The following roles are the only persons who are authorised to receive a PID within SLM:

Principal Officer: Mark Goggin, Executive Director
email: mark.goggin@sydneylivingmuseums.com.au
phone: 02 8239 2260

PID Coordinator: Trish Kernahan, Assistant Director, Operations
email: trishk@sydneylivingmuseums.com.au
phone: 02 8239 2360

PID Officer: Joshua Lodge, Policy & Compliance Officer
email: joshual@sydneylivingmuseums.com.au
phone: 02 8239 2272

Any supervisor who receives a report that they believe may be a public interest disclosure must assist the person to make the report to one of the people listed above.

5. Who can receive a report outside of SLM

While you are encouraged to report wrongdoing within SLM, PIDs may also be made to:

- An investigating authority, or
- A Member of Parliament or a journalist, but only in the limited circumstances outlined below.

5.1 Investigating authorities

The Act lists a number of investigating authorities in NSW that can receive reports of wrongdoing and the type of wrongdoing each authority can deal with. In certain circumstances it may be preferable to make a report of wrongdoing to an investigating authority, for example any report about the Executive Director.

The relevant investigating authorities for SLM are:

- the Independent Commission Against Corruption (ICAC) — for disclosures about corrupt conduct
- the NSW Ombudsman — for disclosures about maladministration
- the NSW Auditor-General — for disclosures about serious and substantial waste
- the NSW Information Commissioner — for disclosures about a breach of the GIPA Act

You should contact the relevant investigation authority for advice about how to make a disclosure to them. Contact details for are provided at 17. 'Investigating authorities.'

You should be aware that the investigating authority may discuss any such reports with SLM. SLM will make every effort to assist and cooperate with the investigating authority to ensure the matter is dealt with appropriately and that there is a satisfactory outcome. SLM will also provide appropriate support and assistance to workers who report wrongdoing to an investigating authority, if SLM is made aware that this has occurred.

5.2 Members of Parliament or journalists

To have the protections of the Act, public officials reporting wrongdoing to a Member of Parliament (MP) or a journalist must have already made substantially the same report to one of the following:

- SLM Executive Director, PID Coordinator or PID Officer
- an investigating authority.

Also, SLM or the investigating authority that received your initial report must have either:

- decided not to investigate the matter
- decided to investigate the matter, but not completed the investigation within six months of the original report
- investigated the matter but not recommended any action as a result
- not told the person who made the report, within six months of the report being made, whether the matter will be investigated.

Most importantly – to be protected under the Act – if you report wrongdoing to an MP or a journalist you will need to be able to prove that you have reasonable grounds for believing that the disclosure is substantially true and that it is in fact substantially true.

5.3 Other external reporting

Reports of wrongdoing to a person or authority that is not listed above, or making a report to an MP or journalist without following the steps outlined above, will not be protected under the Act. This may mean you will be in breach of legal obligations or the Code of Conduct – by, for example, disclosing confidential information.

For more information about reporting wrongdoing outside SLM, contact the SLM PID Coordinator or the NSW Ombudsman's Public Interest Disclosures Unit (see section 17 for contact details).

6. Assessment of reports

All reports will be promptly and thoroughly assessed to determine what action will be taken to deal with the report and whether or not the report will be treated as a PID.

The PID Coordinator is responsible for assessing reports, in consultation with the Executive Director where appropriate. All reports will be assessed on the information available to the PID Coordinator at the time. It is up to the PID Coordinator to decide whether an investigation should be carried out and how that investigation should be carried out. In assessing a report the PID Coordinator may decide that the report should be referred elsewhere or that no action should be taken on the report.

7. How to make a report

A report of wrongdoing may be made in writing or verbally. You are encouraged to make a report in writing via SLM's Internal Report of Wrongdoing Form [insert link] as this can help to avoid any confusion or misinterpretation.

If a report is made verbally, the person receiving the report will make a comprehensive record of the report and ask the person making the report to sign this record. The reporter should keep a copy of this record.

You may request a private meeting away from the workplace if you are concerned about publicly approaching Executive Director, PID Coordinator or PID Officer(s) in the workplace.

8. Can a report be anonymous?

There may be some situations where a public official may not want to identify themselves when they make a report. Although these reports will still be dealt with by SLM, it is best if you identify yourself. This allows SLM to provide you with any necessary protection and support, as well as feedback about what action is to be taken or has been taken to deal with the issues raised in the report, or the outcome of any investigation.

It is important to realise that an anonymous disclosure may not prevent a reporter from being identified by the subjects of the report or their colleagues. If SLM does not know who made the report, it is very difficult to prevent any reprisal from occurring should others identify the reporter.

There are also situations in which it may not be possible to remain anonymous. More information is set out at '10. Confidentiality'.

9. Feedback to reporters

Public officials who report wrongdoing will be told what is happening in response to their report.

9.1 Acknowledgement

When you make a report, SLM will contact you to confirm that your report has been received and to advise:

- the timeframe within which you will receive further updates
- the name and contact details of the people who can tell you what is happening or handle any concerns you may have.

After a decision is made about how your report will be dealt with, SLM will send you an acknowledgment letter, providing:

- information about the action that will be taken in response to your report
- the likely timeframes for any investigation or other action
- information about the internal and external resources or services available that you can access for support.

SLM will provide this information to you within 10 working days from the date you make your report. You will also be advised if we decide to treat your report as a PID and provide you with a copy of this policy at that time, as required by the Act.

Please note, if you make a report which meets the requirements of the Act but the report was made under a statutory or legal obligation or incidental to the performance of your day to day functions, you will not receive an acknowledgement letter or a copy of this policy.

9.2 Progress updates

While your report is being dealt with, such as by investigation or making other enquiries, you will be given:

- information about the progress of the investigation or other enquiries and reasons for any delay
- advice of any decision by SLM not to proceed with the matter
- advice if your identity needs to be disclosed for the purposes of investigating the matter or making enquiries, and an opportunity to talk about this beforehand.

9.3 Feedback

Once the matter has been finalised you will be given:

- enough information to show that adequate and appropriate action was taken and/or is proposed to be taken in response to your disclosure and any problem that was identified;
- advice about whether you are likely to be called as a witness in any further matters, such as disciplinary or criminal proceedings.

10. Maintaining confidentiality

Where possible and appropriate SLM will take steps to keep your identity and the fact you have reported wrongdoing, confidential.

A person to whom a PID is made or referred to is not to disclose information that might identify or tend to identify the person who has made the disclosure unless:

- the reporter consents in writing to the disclosure of that information, or it is generally known that the reporter has made the disclosure (otherwise than by making the PID) as a result of the person having voluntarily identified themselves as the person who made it, or
- it is essential, having regard to the principles of natural justice, that the identifying information be disclosed to a person whom the information provided by the disclosure may concern, or
- the Executive Director is of the opinion that disclosure of the identifying information is necessary to investigate the matter effectively or it is otherwise in the public interest to do so.

If it becomes necessary to disclose your identity in accordance with this section and you will be informed in advance and SLM will, in consultation with you, develop a plan to support and protect you from reprisal.

If you report wrongdoing, it is important that you only discuss your report with those responsible for dealing with it. Any person involved in the investigation or handling of a report, including witnesses, must also maintain confidentiality and not disclose information about the process or allegations to any person that is not responsible for handling the report.

Any person who breaches these confidentiality obligations may be subject to action for misconduct.

11. Managing the risk of reprisal and workplace conflict

When a worker reports wrongdoing, SLM will undertake a risk assessment to identify the risks to the reporter of detrimental action in reprisal, as well as indirect but related risks of workplace conflict or difficulties. The risk assessment will also identify strategies to deal with those risks and determine the level of protection and support that is appropriate.

Depending on the circumstances, SLM may:

- consider relocating a worker who is the subject of the allegation within the current workplace or transferring them to another position for which they are qualified;
- grant the reporter or the worker who is the subject of the allegation leave of absence during the investigation of the disclosure.

These courses of action are not punishment and will only be taken in consultation with the reporter.

12. Protection against reprisals

SLM will not tolerate any reprisal against workers who report wrongdoing or are believed to have reported wrongdoing.

The Act provides protection for persons who have made a public interest disclosure by imposing penalties on anyone who takes detrimental action against another person substantially in reprisal for that person making a disclosure. These penalties also apply to cases where a person takes detrimental action against another because they believe or suspect the other person has made or may have made a PID, even if they did not.

Detrimental action means action causing, comprising or involving any of the following:

- injury, damage or loss
- intimidation or harassment
- discrimination, disadvantage or adverse treatment in relation to employment

- dismissal from, or prejudice in, employment
- disciplinary proceedings.

A person who is found to have committed a reprisal offence may face criminal penalties such as imprisonment and/or fines, and may be required to pay the victim damages for any loss suffered as a result of the detrimental action. Taking detrimental action in reprisal is also misconduct which is likely to result in disciplinary action under the Code of Conduct.

It is important to note however that the protection provided by the Act does not protect workers from disciplinary or other management action where SLM has reasonable grounds to take such action.

12.1 Responding to allegations of reprisal

If you believe that detrimental action has been or is being taken against you or someone else in reprisal for reporting wrongdoing, you should tell your supervisor, the PID Coordinator or the Executive Director immediately.

Supervisors must notify the PID Coordinator or the Executive Director if they suspect that reprisal against a worker because of a report is occurring or has occurred, or if any such allegations are made to them.

If SLM becomes aware of or suspects that reprisal is being or has been taken against a person who has made a disclosure, SLM will:

- assess the report of reprisal to decide whether it should be treated as a PID and whether the matter warrants investigation or if other action should be taken to resolve the issue
- if the reprisal allegation warrants investigation, ensure this is conducted by a senior and experienced member of staff
- if it is established that reprisal is occurring against someone who has made a report, take all steps possible to stop that activity and protect the reporter
- take appropriate disciplinary action against anyone proven to have taken or threatened any action in reprisal for making a disclosure
- refer any evidence of an offence under section 20 of the Act to the ICAC or NSW Police.

If you allege reprisal, you will be kept informed of the progress and outcome of any investigation or other action taken in response to the allegation.

If you have reported wrongdoing and are experiencing reprisal which you believe is not being dealt with effectively, contact the Ombudsman or the ICAC (depending on the type of wrongdoing you reported). Contact details for these investigating authorities are listed at 17. 'Investigating Authorities.'

12.2 Protection against legal action

If you make a PID in accordance with the Act, you will not be subject to any liability, and no action, claim or demand can be taken against you for having made the public interest disclosure. You will not have breached any confidentiality or secrecy obligations and you will have the defence of absolute privilege in defamation.

13. Support for those reporting wrongdoing

SLM will seek to ensure that workers who have reported wrongdoing, regardless of whether their report is treated as a PID, are provided with access to any professional support they may need as a result of the reporting process – such as stress management or counselling services.

Access to support may also be available for other workers involved in the internal reporting process where appropriate. Reporters and other workers involved in the process can discuss their support options with the Disclosures Coordinator.

14. Sanctions for making false or misleading statements

Under the Act it is a criminal offence to wilfully make a false or misleading statement when reporting wrongdoing. SLM will not support workers who wilfully make false or misleading reports. Such conduct may also be a breach of the Code of Conduct and result in action for misconduct.

15. The rights of persons the subject of a report

SLM is committed to ensuring persons who are the subject of a report of wrongdoing are treated fairly and reasonably. This includes keeping the identity of any person the subject of a report confidential, where this is practical and appropriate.

If you are the subject of the report, you will be advised of the allegations made against you at an appropriate time and before any adverse findings. At this time you will be:

- advised of the details of the allegation;
- advised of your rights and obligations under the relevant related policies and procedures;
- kept informed about the progress of any investigation;
- given a reasonable opportunity to respond to any allegation made against you;
- told the outcome of any investigation, including any decision made about whether or not further action will be taken against you.

Where the reported allegations against a public official are clearly wrong, or have been investigated and unsubstantiated, the person that was the subject of the allegations will be supported by SLM. The fact of the allegations and any investigation will be kept confidential unless otherwise agreed by that person.

16. Reporting

The PID Coordinator is responsible for ensuring that SLM complies with agency reporting obligations set out in the Act. This includes:

- Six monthly reports (provided within 30 days of both 30 June and 31 December) to the Ombudsman. The reports are to be completed through the NSW Ombudsman online PID reporting tool;
- SLM's annual report will include the PID information specified in the Public Interest Disclosure Regulation 2011.

18. Flow chart of internal reporting process

Roles and responsibilities

Executive Director: The Executive Director is responsible for maintaining the internal reporting system and workplace reporting culture, and ensuring SLM complies with the Act. The Executive Director will:

- assess reports received by or referred to him/her, determine whether or not the report should be treated as a public interest disclosure, and decide how the report will be dealt with
- ensure there are strategies in place to support reporters, protect reporters from reprisal and manage workplace conflict that may arise in relation to a report
- make decisions following any investigation or appoint an appropriate decision-maker
- take appropriate action where wrongdoing is substantiated or systemic problems are identified
- refer actual or suspected corrupt conduct to the ICAC
- refer any evidence of a reprisal offence under section 20 of the Act to the NSW Police or the ICAC.

PID Coordinator: The PID Coordinator has a central role in SLM's internal reporting system. The PID Coordinator is the primary point of contact for reporters and will:

- assess reports to determine whether or not a report should be treated as a public interest disclosure, and to decide how each report will be dealt with
- coordinate SLM's response to a report
- acknowledge reports and provide updates and feedback to the reporter
- assess whether it is possible and appropriate to keep the reporter's identity confidential
- assess the risk of reprisal and workplace conflict related to or likely to arise out of a report, and develop strategies to manage any risk identified
- where required, provide or coordinate support to workers involved in the reporting or investigation process, including protecting the interests of any officer the subject of a report
- ensure SLM complies with the Act
- ensure SLM complies with PID reporting requirements
- ensure full and accurate records of the PID are made and captured in TRIM, SLM's recordkeeping system, and that appropriate security has been applied to maintain confidentiality.

PID Officer(s) PID officers are additional points of contact within the internal reporting system. They can provide advice about the system and the internal reporting policy, receive reports of wrongdoing and assist workers to make reports. PID officers will:

- document in writing any reports received verbally, and have the document signed and dated by the reporter
- make arrangements to ensure workers can make reports privately and discreetly when requested, if necessary away from the workplace
- discuss with the reporter any concerns they may have about reprisal or workplace conflict
- carry out a preliminary assessment and forward reports to the PID Coordinator or Executive Director for full assessment.

Supervisors and Managers: Supervisors and Managers should be aware of this policy and are responsible for creating a local work environment where workers are comfortable about reporting wrongdoing. They will:

- encourage workers to report known or suspected wrongdoing and support them when they do
- identify reports which could be public interest disclosures, and assist the worker to make the report to an officer authorised to receive public interest disclosures under this policy
- implement local management strategies, in consultation with the PID Coordinator, to minimise the risk of reprisal or workplace conflict in relation to a report
- notify the PID Coordinator or Executive Director immediately if they believe a worker is being subjected to reprisal as a result of reporting wrongdoing.

Workers: All workers are obliged to:

- report all known or suspected wrongdoing and support those who have made reports
- if requested, assist those dealing with the report, including supplying information on request, cooperating with any investigation and maintaining confidentiality

- treat any worker or person dealing with a report of wrongdoing with courtesy and respect
- respect the rights of persons who are the subject of reports.

Workers must not:

- victimise or harass anyone who has made a report, or
- make false or misleading reports of wrongdoing.
